

Dayton, Ohio Superintendent Receives 17th Annual Save The Music Foundation Award For Distinguished Support Of Music Education

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Award Presented During AASA's National Conference

Nashville, Tenn. – February 19, 2022 – Elizabeth Lolli, Superintendent of Dayton Public Schools (DPS) in Dayton, Ohio, is the 2022 recipient of the Save The Music Foundation's (STM) 17th annual Administrator Award for Distinguished Support of Music Education.

This prestigious award was presented at the National Conference on Education, hosted by AASA, The School Superintendents Association.

This award recognizes one superintendent or school district CEO who has exhibited outstanding commitment to restoring music education in his or her school district. Lolli was chosen for her deep commitment to providing students across the city of Dayton with a well-rounded education that includes music.

"It is an honor to be recognized for the district's efforts to provide music education to students at all grade levels," said Lolli. "Music helps students excel both in and out of the classroom, and also makes them excited to attend school each day. Giving students the opportunity to be actively involved in playing instruments, singing, and taking part in other aspects of music education is truly invaluable to their overall success."

Starting in 2019, STM and Dayton Public Schools teamed up to jumpstart comprehensive music education programs in all 15 elementary and 3 middle schools, reaching all K-8th grade students across the district. This project is fueled by a strategic partnership with Superintendent Dr. Elizabeth Lolli, who has demonstrated a deep commitment to ensuring every student in the district has equity and access to music education, taught by qualified teachers as part of the regular school day.

"Superintendent Lolli has been a champion of music education for all students in Dayton," said Jaclyn Rudderow, senior director of school programs for Save The Music Foundation. "She has led the efforts in DPS to make significant investments in both the K-12 music programs for students and in music teacher professional development and support, matching STM's investment of providing musical instrument grants to all DPS K-8 schools."

In September of 2016, Lolli began her employment with DPS as Associate Superintendent of Curriculum and Instruction. Immediately prior to that date, she served as senior director of curriculum and instruction in the Middletown (Ohio) City School District. It was that same district where earlier in her career she was an elementary school principal and Coordinator of Elementary Education and K-12 Music. Previously, Lolli served as superintendent for two other Ohio districts. In these districts, she increased funding and support for band, choir, general music programs, and staff professional development.

Past recipients of this award include: Leon Rogers, superintendent, Newark, N.J., Keely Roberts, superintendent, Zion Elementary District 6 (Ill.); Francisco Escobedo, superintendent, Chula Vista Elementary School District (Calif.); Nancy Sarra, superintendent, Consolidated School District of New Britain (Conn.); Kevin George, superintendent, St. John the Baptist Parish (La.) Public Schools; Russell Freitas, superintendent, Firebaugh-Las Deltas Unified (Calif.) School District; Kristi (Sandvik) Wilson, superintendent, Buckeye (Ariz.) Elementary School District; Reginald Mayo, retired superintendent, New Haven (Conn.) Public Schools; Rita Bishop, superintendent, Roanoke City (Va.) Public Schools; Kathy L. Kelly, superintendent, Columbia Heights (Minn.) Public Schools; Duncan N. P. "Pat" Pritchett Jr., former superintendent, Indianapolis (Ind.) Public Schools; John Lange, former superintendent, Adams County (Colo.) School District 14; Carol Johnson, former superintendent, Memphis City (Tenn.) Schools and current superintendent, Boston (Mass.) Public Schools; Richard Kaplan, superintendent, New Brunswick (N.J.) Public Schools; Eugene White, retired superintendent, Indianapolis (Ind.) Public Schools; and James A. Williams, former superintendent, Buffalo (N.Y.) Public Schools.

The National Conference on Education is regarded as the most comprehensive professional learning and networking event for school superintendents and administrators. Focus zones for the three-day gathering, themed Learning for Student-Centered, Equity-Focused Education, cover transformational leading and learning, re-engineering learning, social environment and culture, and managing districts.
